Important definitions

Reference in this FSG to:

- "SOA" means Statement of Advice
- "ROA" means Record of Advice
- "Risk Insurance Consultants", "we", "our", "us" and "RIC" means Risk Insurance Consultants Pty Ltd
- "Financial Planner" means a Financial Planner acting as an Authorised Representative of RIC;
- "IDPS" means an Investor Directed Portfolio Service;
- "PDS" means Product Disclosure Statement.

If your Financial Planner recommends a particular investment or insurance product to you, they will provide you with the relevant PDS or IDPS guide which will give you information about the key benefits, risks and costs associated with the product to enable you to make an informed decision about whether to make a purchase.

You are under no obligation to act on your Financial Planner's advice but if you do decide to follow their recommendations they will help you complete the necessary documents to get your financial strategy underway.

What we expect from you

To enable your Financial Planner to provide you with appropriate advice, you need to provide them with:

- complete and accurate information about your personal objectives, financial situation and needs; and
- information about any changes to your situation or contact details.

You may elect not to provide your Financial Planner with certain information but if you do, you will need to consider the appropriateness of any advice provided to you before you act on it.

You should carefully read any warnings contained in the Advice Document.

Before your Financial Planner provides you with advice, you will need to confirm your agreement to the type and scope of advice to be provided. If you subsequently decide to act on their advice, you will need to sign a document called an 'Authority to Proceed' to confirm that you understand both the advice you have received and the benefits, risks and costs associated with the products or services recommended to you.

How is my Financial Planner's advice paid for?

Depending on the service provided, if your Financial Planner provides you with an Advice Document a fee may be payable. Any such fee will be agreed between you and your Financial Planner and may include up-front or ongoing fees, or a combination of both.

RIC will not pay or arrange for the payment of a fee or benefit to any person, including your Financial Planner, where to do so would amount to the payment of conflicted remuneration or any other payment that is banned under Part 7.7A of the Corporations Act 2001 (Cth).

Superannuation and Investment Products

Your Financial Planner may charge you an up-front fee in the range of 0% to 5% of the total investment amount. This may be deducted from your account.

In addition, your Financial Planner may charge you an ongoing fee calculated in the range of 0% to 2.5% of your investment account balance. Generally, ongoing fees are payable on a monthly basis.

Alternatively, your Financial Planner may charge you a flat fee for their service that is independent of your investments. Such fee will need to be agreed between you and your Financial Planner and may be payable up-front, on an ongoing basis, or a combination of both. In this case, you will receive an invoice from, and be required to make payment to ClearView.

Life Insurance Products

In most cases, RIC will receive an up-front commission of up to 138% of your annual insurance premium for arranging your cover. In addition, RIC may receive an ongoing annual commission of up to 33% of your annual insurance premium.

NOTE: These commission payments are made by the relevant product issuers and are not an additional cost to you.

How are my financial products paid for?

Where your Financial Planner recommends an investment or insurance product, details of the fees payable for that product will be contained in the relevant Advice Document and PDS or IDPS guide.

How is Risk Insurance Consultants and its Financial Planners paid?

Your Financial Planner will be entitled to a percentage of between 60% to 100% of all up-front and ongoing fees including adviser service fees (superannuation and investment products) and commissions (life insurance products) with Risk Insurance retaining the balance.

Your Financial Planner may also be paid commission payments and performance related bonuses by external product issuers that are not related to us.

RIC Financial Planners may also receive work-related benefits paid for by us or by external product issuers that are not related to us, such as attendance at the annual Financial Planning Association Conference. From time to time we may pay RIC Financial Planners, one-off or short-term bonuses, which will have specific criteria applying to that particular bonus arrangement.

Your Financial Planner may pay a fee to Risk Insurance for dealership services.

How will I know what is payable?

Details of all up-front and ongoing fees and commissions will be disclosed to you in dollar amounts in the Advice Document provided by your Financial Planner. You will receive the Advice Document before your Financial Planner acts on your instructions unless you instruct them to act immediately, in which case all amounts payable will be disclosed to you verbally at the time that advice is provided. On an annual basis you will be provided with a Fee Disclosure Statement if you have paid fees under any ongoing fee arrangement agreed between you and your Financial Planner. The Fee Disclosure Statement will detail the services you were entitled to receive and the services you actually received in connection with the ongoing fee arrangement.

Will anyone be paid for referring me to Risk Insurance Consultants?

In certain circumstances RIC may pay a referral fee to a referral partner for referring you to us ranging from 0% to 50% of the initial and/or ongoing fees or commissions. Where any such referral fee is paid, full details will be provided to you in your Advice Document. In addition the employees of referral partners may participate in incentive and recognition programs operated by their employer for referring you to us.

External Parties

Financial Planners are authorised to advise on and deal in a range of products and services provided by external parties who are not related to Risk Insurance Consultants.

RIC has arrangements with some investment, superannuation and insurance providers including ClearView, AIA, MLC, Macquarie, Colonial First State, CommInsure, Financial Services Partners Pty Ltd (OnePath) and BT who may pay RIC a rebate based on the amount of client monies invested through their platform or products for as long as such investments remain active.

Payments are calculated as either a percentage of all funds invested over an agreed period or a percentage of the relevant provider's standard management or administration fees. They do not represent an additional cost to you and do not increase any fee that would otherwise be charged by the provider if the arrangements were not in place.

Rebates paid by external product providers constitute revenue to RIC and your Financial Planner may be entitled to a share. A Financial Planner's potential share is based on future funds under advice and in force risk premiums and cannot be quantified in advance. Where applicable, further details will be provided in any Advice Document provided to you.

RIC may also receive financial support from these product providers that is applied to training, conferences and marketing initiatives and is not an additional charge to you.
